debate endlessly for hours and hours taking up as much time as you feel that you can. We're not hogtying you, we're not...you know, I really am beginning to resent personally, too, the racial references that you continue to make on this floor. I have personally never discriminated against anyone in my lifetime. And for you to continue to give the impression, when I talk to people about what's going on in this Legislature, I told them, okay, I'll stand up and I'll explain to you what's going on on the floor of the Legislature because all they hear is what you keep telling them and what you're trying to make them think, that this is the Nebraska Legislature against one senator and that's not the case at all. The Nebraska Legislature is trying to structure their rules so that they can do their work in a timely manner. And many of us want to support that, even those of us who have on occasions filed many amendments or tried to delay debate to get more time to try to get more votes, but certainly none of us to the degree that Senator Chambers has done so. And I do explain to them, please do not listen to what Senator Chambers is telling you. He is telling you what he wants you to believe. He is certainly not discriminated against in this body. If anything, this body has shown him complete deference. That's been my impression for the last six years, and let him get away with a lot more than I would. It's like anywhere else in society. We are lawmakers. And yet we can't...it's the self-control of the individuals in a free society to choose to either obey that law or to break that law. And it's the self-control that we at sometimes lack in ourselves and we have to be reminded that we're working in a Legislature of 49 people that we haven't chosen to work with, that the public has chosen to work with. And that we have to work with all the individuals
